Bombs Hurlled At Cost Of $200 Each, Crowe Announces

CAPE HID ENGINES OF DEATH, HE SAYS

Special Grand Jury To Be Called To Probe Statements

(Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—A bombing gang which made a business of explosions at $200 each, has been uncovered and the origin of two score bomb outrages revealed in the confessions of a man and a woman. The woman is the mother of three children.

A special grand jury will be called to investigate statements made in their admissions to Prosecutor Robert W. Crowe.

Fred Manquist and Mrs. Dena Rice formerly a farmers wife living near Columbus, Ohio, told of taking part in five blasts, following their arrest with Joseph Avanzio as they fled from a hardware store, which was blown up early yesterday.

According to their confession the woman, who first said she was Lee McClellan would carry the bombs under a cape she wore and place them where they were to be exploded, the prosecutor said.

The man drove their car and acted as lookout, and occasionally committed lesser acts of intimidation, such as hurling bricks through windows. Avanzio was not implicated in the confession, but two other men, one an official of a barber's organization, also were held.

ORLANDO, Fla., Nov. 27.—Arthur Henry, negro, arrested and placed under guard at the Orange hospital with a bullet wound in his left side after the shooting last night of Detective George Jump and D. W. Dority, was seized by three men early today and carried off.

The men gained entrance into the hospital, disarmed a guard and hurried off with the negro.

City Detectives Jump and Dority are in the hospital as the result of pistol wounds last night, supposedly from the gun of Henry, when they went to investigate a reported shooting fray.

Dority was shot through the left side and hip and Jump through the shoulder. Both have chances for recovery.

'FATHER AND SON' BANQUET SET FOR EARLY NEXT MONTH

Secretary Ashwander To Handle Details Of The Event

TFNTATIVE DATE IS DECEMBER 7th

Full Program Will Be Announced Soon By Chairman

The local Y. M. C. A. will again promote a Father and Son banquet this time under the direction of the Boy's Work Department, which department is directed by Charles Ashwander, Boy's Secretary. Last year the National Father and Son Movement was locally observed through the Physical department of the Y. M. C. A.

Plans are under way to hold this year's event on Monday night, December 7th, at 6:30 o'clock, at the Y. M. C. A. east room. The observance is especially prepared for the boys and young men members of the Albany and Decatur high schools Hi-Y clubs, as well as for members of the Twin City Pioneer clubs. Invitations are also extended to others who were interested last year, who wish to again enjoy this wonderful privilege of joining with dads and lads.

This National Father and Son movement was organized in 1907 and fostered by the Young Men's Christian Association, co-operating with homes, churches, schools, industries, government fraternal and civic organizations throughout the nation and world.

The purpose of the Father and Son movement is to keep alive the very best in American home life for growing boys; to get fathers to renew their interest and re-consecrate themselves to their paternal obligations; to lead sons to deeper respect and appreciation for their fathers and for their homes; to lead both fathers and sons to recognize the church and Sunday school as necessary to the finest development of their character; and to co-operate in the work and support of the church in extending and making effective in every day life the will of God.

Full program, including announcement of the principal speaker at the banquet, will be given out in two or three days.

NOTED GUNMAN IS BELIEVED TO HAVE ESCAPED NET AGAIN

Two Men Are Killed In Effort To Capture Martin Durkin

TOBACCO SHOP IS SCENE OF TRAGEDY

Gun Battle Occurs As Officers Wait For Durkin To Appear

(Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Two men, one a policeman, were killed and two others, including a policeman, were wounded in a Southside tobacco shop early today in a shooting affray in which one of the four assailants was described by the wounded policeman as Martin Durkin, fugitive police slayer.

The attackers escaped. The policemen had been spending the past five nights in the shop. Shortly after midnight, while they were talking to five loungers in the shop, the quartette entered and the shooting began. It was thought that the police had been assigned to the place on the tip that Durkin might visit there.

James Carrol, policeman and Ben Custer, a taxicab driver, were killed. James Henry, the other policeman, probably was fatally wounded and Gus Holdner a lounge, was slightly injured.

Henry said Durkin was one of the men.

The shop is located in the area known as the habitat of gangsters and is not far from the flat where Durkin escaped a police trap after killing a detective sergeant more than a month ago.

CRAIG DIES

SELMA, Ala., Nov. 27.—William B. Craig, 48, member of the 60th and 61st congress and prominent in legal and fraternal circles of the state, died Friday.

WHAT would happen if they ever have a real estate boom in New York City. How high would prices go?

One piece of land in West Forty-Second street has been rented for twenty-one years at $4,000 a front foot. This means paying a rental of $4,000 for a front foot or four per cent on $100,000. At that rate as the Astors used to figure values, a twenty-foot lot would be worth $2,000,000. Weep, single taxers for it is all solid unearned increment.

WASHINGTON suggests that the president, annoyed by the Unions' threat to call a soft coal strike will ask for a "law against strikes in basic industries."

Strikes would not be permitted if they interfered with public comfort or any necessary public work, railroads as well as mines and other work.

IT IS EASY to suggest such a law, easier than it would be to get it. To get it would be much easier than to enforce it.

Once it was against the law to strike in this country. And in England, formerly a workman was forbidden to wander away from his own parish to seek work in another. The punishment was branding on the cheek. How far this republic will go back in that direction remains to be seen.

SUICIDE PACT SEEN IN DOUBLE DEATH IN MIAMI HOTEL ROOM

Shots Heard and Clerk Discovers Bodies of The Victims

(Associated Press)

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 27.—C. Alfred Pacquett, 22, formerly of Lynn, Mass. shot and killed his wife in their room at a local hotel and then committed suicide. Both died instantly.

A note found by police indicated a suicide pact they said.

Police stated Pacquett, a registered pharmacist, had come to Florida, "to reform." A note left by the young man, they stated, contained statements to the effect that he had been a heavy drinker.

His 20 year old wife, Alice, followed him south and was working as a stenographer at Fort Lauderdale. A child, believed to be with relatives at Fall River, survives.

Pacquet and his wife registered at the hotel here yesterday. Early today shots were heard and a clerk found the bodies.

SURGEON'S MEMORY WILL BE HONORED

Statue of Doctor Wyeth Will Be Placed At Alabama Capital

(Associated Press)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 27.—A statue of John Allen Wyeth, celebrated surgeon, will stand on the grounds of the State Capitol here in the near future. The statue, executed by Gutson Borglum, is of bronze and is eight feet tall and depicts the surgeon in his operating gown handling his instruments.

The statue was made for Miss Emily H. Bourne, a patient of Dr. Wyeth, and on her death was bequeathed to Mrs. Milcher, Miss Bourne's niece. Mrs. Milcher has presented the statue to the state.

Dr. Wyeth was a native Alabamian. He was a student at the old Lagrange Military Academy when it was burned by Federal troops during the Civil War. The academy was located at the village of Lagrange four miles from Leighton, Colbert county. The Academy was one of the best known schools of early days. It was originally a Methodist institution and was moved to Florence, where it was turned into a school for girls and was the inception of the present Florence Normal school. Dr. Wyeth first brought the school into historic prominence by publishing his story of it.

Dr. Wyeth, in addition to his achievements as a great surgeon, was the author of several well known volumes. His "Life of General Nathan Bedford Forrest" is held to be one of the foremost contributions to the literature of the Confederacy.

He began his medical career at Cahabatchee, in what is now Macon County, and continued it here until removing to New York, where both he and his son-in-law rose to fame by their work there.

Youth Is Shot From His Wagon, Witness Tells Officers

(Associated Press)

PIKESVILLE, Ky., Nov. 27.—A Thanksgiving Day tragedy on Marshall's branch of Elkhorn Creek, resulted in the fatal shooting of a young man and the arrest of his uncle on a charge of killing him.

Calvin Little, 22 years old, was shot from ambush and killed while driving a wagon load of coal. Pike County officials surrounded the home of John Adams, 53, storekeeper at Shelby Gap, uncle and alleged slayer of Little. The posse broke down the door of Adams' home, but failed to find him.

Two stills, one of which was warm two barrels of mash and a quantity of whiskey were found, the officers reported.

Adams was arrested and burlined. Alex Mopeak, 50, who claims to have witnessed the shooting, said Adams concealed himself behind a tree and shot Little. Adams, who is separated from his family, is a brother of Little's mother. It was said there had been family difficulties in the past.

Little leaves a widow, two small children.

Justice "Weights" Evidence In Court

(Associated Press)

GOODWATER, Ala., Nov. 27.—G. F. Blair, local justice of the peace, has got the science of weighing down pat. He weighs the evidence in cases presented before him while he weighs cotton in the McCord Ginnery, of which he is in charge. And he does it all in his own way.

Local citizens seem perfectly satisfied with Justice Blair's method of deciding cases. Very few appeals are made when once he has rendered his decision, although it is said that he is not so particular about legal technicalities. Mr. Blair has the reputation of getting down to the facts in every case and rendering justice accordingly.

All Over Alabama

A membership drive has been instituted by the Young Men's Christian Association at Albany-Decatur. It was planned to hold two banquets as the main features of the drive.

A three story brick building will be constructed in the downtown section of Tuscaloosa in the near future, it has been announced. The building is expected to cost approximately $75,000.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce at Montgomery has instituted a movement for the purpose of bringing some form of organization based on ball to the city.

Portions of the sidewalk corners in the downtown section of Anniston are being cut away to provide more space for traffic. City officials have taken this step to prevent much of traffic congestion that has been prevalent in the city for some time.

The city commissioners of Montgomery are planning to install the traffic tower signal system to handle traffic in the Capitol City. Lights at all important intersections down town will control the flow of both vehicles and pedestrians.

A site for the new tuberculosis sanatorium near Gadsden has been donated by several citizens of the city it has been announced. The sanatorium, replacing the one burned some time ago, will be built on the crest of Lookout mountain.

The hunting season has opened in Alabama and sportsmen report that game is plentiful. Especially in the Southern part of the state, quail and squirrels are said to be numerous.

The largest bale of cotton ever weighed in Helfin is said to have been brought in this season by F. J. Johnston, a farmer of the vicinity. The bale is reported to have weighed 725 pounds.

Thirty seven members of the Sigma Nu fraternity at Alabama Polytechnic Institute are now living in a new home of the organization. The house is said to have cost approximately $30,000.

The City Theater at Lafayette, has been destroyed by fire at an estimated loss of $5,000. The blaze also damaged an adjacent restaurant.

The new building of the Alabama City Methodist church has been completed. The auditorium of the church has a seating capacity of 700.

One of the best equipped physical departments in the South is claimed by the Montgomery Y. M. C. A. since the opening of the new annex to the building. Apparatus of almost every kind is included in the addition to the association property.

HOW THE PUBLIC SCHOOL DOLLAR IS SPENT IN ALABAMA

CURRENT EXPENSES 1925-24

The segments of the circle marked off above represent the principal divisions of school services, and the percentage of the 1924 school dollar devoted to each service for Current Expenses, Interest on Indebtedness and Refunds. The money spent for New Buildings, Equipment etc., known as Outlays, and for Payment of Debt, is not included because these costs are not all chargeable to year 1924 but distributed over a period of years.

EXPENDITURES 1923-24

Current Expenses.....$11,618,436.00
Interest on Indebtedness and Refunds.....253,862.00
Total.....$11,872,298.00

By R. W. Conant - Secretary A. E. A.
Drawing by A. F. Billmer, Dept. of Education.

The accompanying diagram shows, in percentage, the amount spent for each item of school service. According to the national system of uniform bookkeeping, these services are as follows: General control, instruction, operation, maintenance, fixed charges, debt service, capital outlay and auxiliary agencies. In order that the reader may understand what items are charged under each of these headings, they are briefly defined below:

General Control.
The expense of Boards of Education, their office supplies, clerk hire, school elections, law suits, etc.

Operation of Plant.
The salaries of janitors, janitors' supplies, fuel, light, water, power and the like.

Maintenance of Plant.
The repair of buildings and equipment, the replacement of equipment of all kinds—instructional, heating, lighting, ventilating, plumbing. The upkeep of grounds and like charges.

Fixed Charges.
Rents, insurance, pensions and retirement funds where allowed; taxes, where paid.

Debt Service.
Interest on short loans, interest on bonded indebtedness, refunds, redemption of short loans, payment of bonded indebtedness for new buildings, grounds or equipment.

Capital Outlay.
Construction of new buildings, alteration of old buildings—not repairs. purchase of new equipment—not replacement, which includes furniture, teaching appliances, tools, etc.; purchase of school sites.

Auxiliary Agencies.
Cost of transportation of pupils school libraries, school cafeterias, public lectures, health work, playground equipment and the like.

Some Comparisons.
Ala.  Ave. U. S. :
Instruction.....31.4% 71.6%
General control.....4.3% 4.1%
All other.....14.3% 24.3%

It will be noted that the percentage of the funds for education devoted to instruction in Alabama is much greater than the average per cent of funds spent for this service in the United States. While the percentage in Alabama is much higher than the national average, the actual salaries paid teachers in Alabama are much lower than the national average. In fact, the average salary paid teachers taking the nation as a whole, is about twice the salary paid Alabama teachers. The percentage of funds going to general control in Alabama is two tenths of one per cent higher than the national average. This difference is not enough to cause comment. It might be said, however, that our present administrative machinery could handle twice the present school expenditure without increasing the cost of administration materially. It is worthy of note that the remaining services receive much more attention, taking the nation as a whole, than they do in Alabama. This is due, no doubt, to the general lack of school funds in this state.

*These figures from Bul. 1924, No. 31, U. S. Bureau of Education.
Figures for Alabama derived from the 1924 report of the State Superintendent of Education.

J. R. Thomas, the popular grocer, is constructing a new warehouse on Church street.

Miss Leta Bess Harrison is expected from Birmingham today where she has been the guest of friends through the Thanksgiving holidays.

Union services were largely attended in the cities on Thanksgiving, the various churches being taxed to capacity.

Mrs. D. R. Neil, who has been the guest of Mrs. T. A. Bowles and the honoree of many social compliments, left for Nashville this afternoon.

Mrs. Kittie King and Sam King, the latter the cashier of the Bank of Ensley, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Gover.

Radio offers public speakers larger audiences, but it has its advantages. If the listener is not interested, it's not hard to cut off the speech.

The season of the great gorge is past for the present, Christmas, however, promises a revival of cramming tactics.

It takes Thanksgiving Day to make many of us realize our temporal blessings and three hundred sixty-five days of honest endeavor to learn the value of religious faith.

A pessimist is a man who sees only the fellow with the broken collar-bone after the Thanksgiving Day football classic.

Toledo, Ohio, suffered four deaths in one railway crossing accident. We know that the accident is a long way from here, but we pass it onto you trusting that you will take heed.

Word comes from El Dorado, Arkansas, that a fortune of $2,000,000 awaits a boy who ran away from home when seven years old. And there are people who sneer at Horatio Alger.

Regardless of party affiliation, Americans hope that President Coolidge will not be called upon to bear another cross of sorrow during his occupancy of the white house, and prayers for the recovery of his father, Colonel C. Coolidge, are nation-wide.

This president spent a very quiet Thanksgiving day at home. He probably had not recovered from the first game of the world series when with a tremendous effort he tossed the first ball on the diamond. Some of our executives have a hard lot.

Speaking of the eternal optimist, we'll have to pass the laurel to the Anniston Star. The Star said recently: "Away up in the Tennessee Mountains a lone moonshiner was throwing wood on the fire under his still, Tuesday morning. The wood blazed up, the still exploded, the man was killed, and no one has any idea how many lives of customers were saved." It has been our idea for a long while that the varnish manufacturers could earn greater dividends by selling their products in competition with the bootleggers.

The victory of the Crimson Tide over the University of Georgia was not merely a football victory, it was one of the triumphant Alabama steps which have been so much in evidence of late. The state of Alabama has been standing in her own light for a great many years, but that shadow has been cast aside and Alabama is to rise to heights heretofore unattained by any southern state. With an adequate road system a network of factories and the spirit of loyalty pervading the homes and the hearts of the people, there is no reason why Alabama should not at last settle all claims to the championship of the southland, either in football or in industry, in transportation or in agriculture. Alabama is fast arriving, she has been held back long enough and there is not a soul in the state that does not feel that this magnificent state of ours is at last to triumph. Alabama, the finest state in Dixie, one of the finest in our great commonwealth, is on the way. There will be no stopping her now that she has hit her stride. The good years are ahead, there will be no more "darkest hour" for our state, she will win in the long run, just as her football team did on Thanksgiving.

THE GIRLS MAY SMOKE, BUT THEY ARE THE MOTHERS OF THE NEXT GENERATION

Criticism has been piled upon criticism regarding the conduct and the life being led by the young lady of today. Many writers do not even give her the dignified name of a lady, they call her the modern flapper, they say she is wild, pleasure chasing, with no thought toward the future other than a desire to live in comparative ease and comfort the remainder of their days and with plenty of servants to wait on her. Such criticism is manifestly without substantial grounds. The modern girl does enjoy a freedom that is natural to her, a freedom that has been taught her by her parents. Her parents are usually the very folks who are loudest in their censure of her acts.

Speaking of a recent ruling by the head of Bryn Mawr College, the Anniston Star makes the following comment: President Marion Edwards Park said, in effect, yesterday when she modified the rule at Bryn Mawr college so as to permit her girls to enjoy their cigarettes without fear of being caught. The students at this girls' college will have smoking rooms.

The high sounding phrase of Marion Edwards Park is just a little complicated—one would expect such from such a person—but, the question of women smoking isn't so very simple itself.

The man's point of view usually is that it is all right for a woman to smoke so long as she first takes the precaution of not being his sister or his mother or his wife.

There seems to be something wrong about it all. But even if it were right, can't a college with the standing of Bryn Mawr teach its girls something more beneficial than blowing smoke rings?

The world changes. Boys will be boys and so will girls.

There is decidedly a more amusing side seen by the Star writer than any attempt to censure, yet the idea is brought forth that the girls of today are thoughtless things who have succumbed to the demands of the day, losing all thought of themselves, of careers, spending the finest days of their lives in search of thrills, adventure, parties of their own, cigarette smoking. It is an unfairness to the modern girl when she is accused of such things. The girl of today is far more capable in a business sense than her mother, and it has come about through a training or acquisition of independence. You cannot blame a girl for disliking to take a permanent job in a kitchen, dish washing is a job that none of us have any great liking for, and as for sweeping and scouring floors, most of them have not learned the art and do not seem to desire such a knowledge.

Indictments of the modern girl will do very little good, she has been taught to live her own life and she is going to live as she pleases. The modern girl resents forcible restraint just as much as the boy always has. Such a tendency in a youth has always been looked upon as a noble characteristic, though he was never let in on the secret. It was looked upon in a manner that the young man was desirous of making his own way and was straining at the leash in an effort to get at the throat of the world. The girls of today are the mothers of the future generation and from the progress that is being made at the present time there will be no need for the calamity howlers in the next generation any more so than there is need for them now. They will be on hand just the same and the cry will go forth, the girl and the boy of the next generation will receive just as much censure as the youth is receiving today, after all it is of comparatively little value.

WHEN WILL LAW CEASE TO BE ONLY LAW AND GIVE JUSTICE?

Glancing over the editorial columns of the Selma Times-Journal one of the interesting accounts of recent actions in the courts of the land is given and with a keen insight into the inside workings of the laws, the shrewd manipulation of the mandate by the technical lawyer who too often stands before a jury and tells them what is the law, not what is justice.

The following account should substantiate the claim that the technicality in the law is not a boon to the lawyer nor the public, but a curse to the administration of justice and right:

The Montgomery Journal comments on a decision of the Court of Appeals reversing the conviction of a man for violating the prohibition law because the letters "i" and "t" in the word "prohibited" had been omitted, in the affidavit charging possession, the word being spelled "prohibed." It is difficult to understand the aberrations of a mind that would attach such momentous significance to the spelling of a word whose meaning in the connection used was so obvious and unescapable. It will be necessary now to prepare the papers in the case all over again and a new trial, with its cost and time-consuming details gone through with, in an effort to mete out justice to the accused. As the Journal points out the reversal was not due to the fact the defendant was not guilty or that he did not have a fair trial, or that every resource of the law was not used in hearing the testimony and in sifting the evidence, but simply because a word whose meaning was as clear as the noon-day sun in the indictment had been spelled incorrectly. This looks like carrying technicality to the nth power.

Innumerable reasons are advanced for the disregard of the law which seems to be everywhere rampant in this country. Some observers say it is due to the law's fine-spun interpretations and delays which are common to all states and all courts. Many lawyers ascribe the failure of the law to the complications inherent in the law itself. Among all students of jurisprudence the American system of surrounding the accused with infinite devices to uphold his presumption of innocence and insure a fair trial is notorious for its contrasts with other modern systems. Our law seems to be built on the old Biblical theory that it were better that ninety and nine guilty ones escape than that one innocent one should be punished, at least this is the way it works out in practice. The solemn importance which our Court of Appeals attaches to the omission of an "i" indicates that no progress whatever has been made in freeing the practice of hair-splitting technicalities since the time when Sir Edward Coke was chief justice of England, some 500 years ago. The court's ruling makes orthography more important than justice.

Now, isn't that a fine state of affairs, a fine story to be broadcast over this country. It is a positive invitation to those who desire to break the law, a danger to the safety of the American home. In our opinion the technicality is a condition which should never receive consideration either from the lawyer or from the court, least of all should it be given thought by the jury.

Justice is something that must not be given away, sacrificed by the means of gentlemen before the bar who in their own knowledge are aware that the client whom they are representing is guilty of the crime with which he is charged, but hanging on a trivial and threadbare point manage to convince a judge that they are correct in the interpretation of the law. Such an existing condition has much to do with the wave of crime which we hear and read about. Criminals feel that they are safe in doing as they please for the reason that men may be employed who can always get them free from the charges brought against them. Justice cannot thrive unless there is a change; Laws are laws and there are too many of them, the technicality should be waived if justice is to reign in the courts of our land.

UNION LABOR, having succeeded admirably in banking enterprises, proposes to try insurance. Instead of paying outside companies to insure them, the workmen will insure themselves, and plan a $300,000,000 concern.

INSURING YOURSELF is sensible if you are big enough for it. When Judge Gary took charge of the steel company, he started "self insurance," setting aside each year the amount saved in premiums not spent. In a short time the fund amounted to thirty million dollars. Eventually the amount thus saved on insurance will equal par on all the common stock in the steel company.

THE GORGAS MEMORIAL Institute maps out a programme that should add ten or fifteen years to the average human life and save billions of dollars. Part of the fight will be against mosquitoes, that cause 3,000,000 cases of malaria a year. A man with malaria is like an engine with water in the gasoline, his capacity is cut down fifty per cent. Fighting malaria should be the business of government. Flying machines could be used to spray swamps that breed malarial mosquitoes, and end that plague.

THANKSGIVING DINNER AT THE WILDER PLACE

The hospitality of the old South is being dispensed this week at the Wilder Place, historic old Southern home of Colonel and Mrs. W. B. Edmundson, who are entertaining with a Thanksgiving house party. The home skirts of yesteryear have given way to popular fashions of the moment but this week seems typical of the Old South are being re-enacted with a change of personnel.

On Thanksgiving day, twenty local friends were invited to seven o'clock dinner. On this occasion the lower floor of the home was elaborately decorated with myriads of chrysanthemums with trails of evergreens in every available space. The perfectly appointed dining table stood in the center of the spacious dining room, and grouped around it were four smaller tables. Two silver candelabras joined and tied with pink tulle were placed on either side of the vase of yellow cup chrysanthemums on the former while the smaller tables were centered with bowls of the same flowers and one burning taper in a silver container. Pink, yellow and white mints at each place further emphasized the color motif.

The names appearing on the cards included the members of the house party, an unusually attractive and charming group, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Edwards, of Huntington, W. Va., and Mirador N. H. Mr. and Mrs. Guy Bowman of Columbus, Ohio, Mrs. Mercedes Lacock, of New York City, Mrs. Wilson Isherwood of Flint Mich. and Honorable Ben Rogers of Florence, and the following local contingent, Mr. and Mrs. Early Phinizy, Mr. and Mrs. Zeno Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rountree, Mr. and Mrs. B. Helpful Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: I have been going with a young man for almost a year and he seems to care a lot for me, but I do not love him. It seems so hard to disappoint his friendship when I know he cares so much for me. I have met a young man who is highly respected and I feel that I love him very much. But he is too far away and I am afraid people will talk about me if I go out with him. Can you help me?

BLUE EYES.

BLUE EYES: In the first place Miss Blue Eyes, there is no reason why you should continue a friendship from which you derive no pleasure. If the young man who is interested in you does not seem very desirable as a friend, merely refuse his invitations. He will realize, then, that you do not enjoy his company, and his attention to you will cease. As for the new acquaintance, there is no reason why his intention should interfere with your friendship. As long as your parents approve of him and feel he is worthy of your friendship, don't worry about what others will say.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this method to thank our many friends for their sympathy and many kindnesses shown us in our recent bereavement, and for the care and beautiful floral. We especially wish to thank the doctor and nurses for their skill, patience and endurance of the 48 hours out of the last 60 with our baby. May they receive the Lord's tenderest mercies and a star in their crown hereafter. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Doris.

ing December 27. These occasions held each year at this church have afforded an evening of pleasure and are genuinely enjoyed by the large number of people who always attend them.

Several local football enthusiasts left early Thursday morning for Birmingham and Nashville, Tenn., to witness the big games scheduled for those cities today.

Mayor J. L. Day has tendered his resignation as mayor of Hartselle and alderman S. E. Gibson will act in his stead. Pressing business demanding Mr. Day's attention is responsible for his resignation, and his health has not been good this year. He was elected to this place about one year ago, and has made a splendid official.

The ladies of the First Baptist church served turkey dinner last Thursday at the new First National bank building adjoining the bank. A large number of people availed themselves of the opportunity to partake of the tempting dishes served on that occasion.

Rev. E. N. Anthony spent Thursday in Birmingham and took occasion to witness the Georgia-Alabama game.

Dr. John Kimbrough and son, J. H. Jr., attended the Alabama-Georgia game at Birmingham Thursday.

Dr. W. M. Booth and family left early last Thursday morning for Nashville, Tenn., to be present at the Sewanee-Vandy game. Vaughn Booth one of the players on the Vandy lineup will return for a stay of several days with his parents. He will be accompanied home by Gil Reese, the all Southern football star, who will spend a few days hunting and recuperation while here, the guest of Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Booth. It is planned to have a big fox hunt while the visitors are here, accompanied by a chicken barbecue.

Rain again halted the gathering of the crop, and there still is quite a lot of cotton in the fields, some of it in which there has never been any picking done to this date. Most of the corn has been gathered, with the exception of small amounts in the very wet lands.

L. G. Gulley will commence sawing cedar lumber here next Monday having moved and installed his mill here this week. He plans to saw and ship several hundred thousand feet of cedar lumber before moving the mill.

Dr. R. F. South of Hanceville was in Hartselle a short time last Wednesday.

Albany High Is Unable To Count

Albany High school journeyed to Huntsville Thanksgiving and after a gallant fight against the Huntsville eleven, went down in defeat by a 19-point margin. The local lads were unable to carry their offensive across the Huntsville goal line. Probably the largest crowd of the year witnessed the game. Both teams were well backed with a large delegation of Albany folks making the trip and pulling for the triumph of the purple and gold.

POWLING SHOWING

GREAT INTEREST

Bowling continues briskly at the Y. M. C. A. Teams, some of them, are winning points in bunches as was the case of the Railroaders and Hurd-Dingers Monday and Tuesday nights of this week, each team swiping 4 points. This left the Combination and Bear Cats teams holding the goose eggs.

Men showing remarkable improvement in averages are Kitchens, Weatherly, Alford, Gray, Kline, Singleton and Rev. Edwards.

Southern Season Ends In a Blaze Of Crimson Glory; Tulane Has a Claim

Southern gridirons unfolded queer tales Thanksgiving with upsets running rampant through the ranks of a withered and sore old king. Football will reign no more until next year when he will again take the throne mid the cheering of thousands of throats. The southern season closed yesterday in a blaze of Crimson glory, it was Alabama's day, in fact it has been Alabama's year, any way you may look at it. The Crimson Tide rose to expected heights Tuesday at Rickwood Park and tossed the Georgia Bulldog to the bottom of the football pile 27-0. In the meantime things were happening fast on other gridirons. The Washington and Lee Generals, undefeated in the conference were swept to defeat at the hands or rather the heels of the Florida Gators. The Generals, doped to win, pulled the usual stunt in allowing the dope bucket to suffer another tipover. The Generals battled the Gators for four quarters, leading until the last few minutes of play when Captain Edgar Jones tore loose and scored another touchdown. Jones scored all his teams points finally emerging a 17-14 winner. Florida deserved to win, making more than twice as many first downs as the Generals. The dope wobbled again in the Kentucky-Tennessee game, which the Wildcats won 23-20. It is most peculiar how teams can play on Thanksgiving. The climax in dope spilling was reached when Auburn marched to a 7-7 tie on Grant field. Over in Nashville the Vanderbilt Commodore thirsting for more than a year, drank his fill of Tiger blood. It was a Vanderbilt game all the way, the Tiger making very little headway after the brilliant George Mahoney had dropped by the wayside with a score of injuries. Up in the hills of North Carolina there was another thrilling tie, Virginia and the Tarheels. North Carolina called it a day with a 3-3 score, thus removing any claim which the Tarheels might have had on the Southern title. Virginia Poly did the unexpected in handing the Cadets of V. M. I. a beating 7-0.

So that is the story of the Turkey Day games in the Southland. Tulane was battling a non-conference foe and won handily 14-0. The Turkey Day curtain drew the covers across the football horizon in one of the most unusual years of football. Weather conditions have had much to do with the upsets of the year, few have been the fields which had any degree of dryness on any Saturday in the entire year. Had it not been for the wet fields it is a safe bet to predict that Alabama would have scored nearer 500 than 300 points. Wade whipped out one of the best teams ever seen in this section of the country and certainly one of the finest aggregations in the history of that institution. Southern fans are hoping that a post season engagement might be arranged for the Tide and that the glories of this state may be broadcast to the West Coast or to the Polo Grounds. Alabama deserves the trip and it is safe to say that whoever her opponent might be that they will find more than they ever bargained for in a southern grid team. Here's to the victors, they won fairly, they have an excellent eleventh may the story live throughout the annals of Southern football.

All boys in the Twin Cities who are planning to go on the hike to Flint creek bottoms tomorrow be sure to be at the Y. M. C. A. at 8:30 o'clock with a lunch. Charles Ashwander, boy's work secretary, will be in charge. This hike is for all boys of the Twin Cities and begins at 8:30 o'clock.

SCORES ATTEND GAMES

By train and by automobile, scores of football fans of Albany and Decatur were returning last night from Nashville and Birmingham, where they had gone to see Turkey gridiron clashes. The attendance from Albany-Decatur this year was probably the heaviest in several years.

If your feet were permitted to choose the shoes they have to wear, they would express their positive preference for Osto-path-iks—because these shoes are comfortable all over, right at the start.

Extra roominess for the toes; a firm snug arch that prevents slipping forward; and a narrow glove-fitting heel that won't let the foot slide up and down—this construction, plus absence of tacks in heels—is why Osto-path-iks make walking thoroughly enjoyable.

See your local shoe dealer for the actual proof, or write us.
